2019 NULU BOCK FEST

Come one, come all! The 2019 NULU Bock Fest is set for March 30th and we hope to see you all there. Back this year we are presenting the 2nd Annual Wurst Fest with local restaurants competing for the best sausage, this year made with product from our local farms thanks to our partner KY Proud! As always we will start the day with the blessing of our goats and beers at 12:30 PM—then begins the racing, eating and drinking!

We are proud of our Bock Beer partners, the Kentucky Guild of Brewers works with us to bring 14 breweries to the event with special bock beers, traditionally made in the winter months and consumed in the spring time.

What goes better with beer and sausages than some good ol' bourbon! Bulleit Bourbon is our exclusive bourbon partner and will be showcasing their tradition of bourbon as well as a classic Boilermaker (shot of bourbon and a NULU Bock Fest bock beer). We are excited for their collaboration!

We are striving to create a day that celebrates local traditions, local partners and bringing people to NULU to enjoy the neighborhood. It is important to us that we showcase the unique and all local businesses of NULU while also highlighting the traditions of our neighborhood from years gone by. Our goat partner, Sunny Acres Farm is a locally owned and operated farm in Jefferson County that produces a variety of farm products and is a vehicle for promoting the strong farm industry of our state. Expect to see cows, chickens, and lots of goats on the street and learn how they help our farm industry thrive.

We want you involved. We have several levels of sponsorship available on our website www.nulubockfest.com. From top listing to goat sponsorship, there are choices that will fit your budget. Goat race winner receives a fancy trophy, bragging rights and picture with their goat! This event is heavy on the farm, food and beer, with only sponsor booths on the streets. We will be encouraging attendees to visit in the stores and shop. Any NULU business that is interested in selling NULU Bock Fest swag please contact Ina Miller ina@inamiller.com. Again, mark your calendars and see you there! ▪

GARNER NARRATIVE

Angie Reed Garner "shantyboating" January 16th—March 29th. Opening reception: Friday, January 18th, 6-9PM | First Friday receptions: February 1st and March 1st, 6-9PM

Shantyboating begins from and returns to Harlan Hubbard's ethos of human dignity through self-determined labor with the central symbol of a shantyboat—a small crude houseboat from times now past. Garner paints allegories of conflict, injustice and resistance. Mules and boats counter hostile ideas about bootstrapping and homelessness. Invasive plants, fish and birds reference economic migration and refugees.

Shantyboating is just one part of "Afloat: An Ohio River Way of Life," a regional celebration of the Ohio River. "Afloat..." was inspired by the works of Kentucky's Thoreau, Harlan Hubbard (1900-1988), and takes place throughout 2019 in several museums, galleries and academic organizations.

The opening reception is concurrent with Currents: Contemporary Artists Along the Banks of the Ohio at Swanson Contemporary, with over a dozen regional contemporary artists reflecting on the Ohio River. ▪

PYRO GALLERY

WHERE WE ARE NOW | COMPOSITIONS by JODY JOHNSON with guest artists VIRGINIA SPEED and RITA CAMERON.

Show Dates: January 10th -February 9th | Initial reception Friday, January 11th from 5-9PM | Second reception Sunday January 13th from 1-4PM

JODY JOHNSON: Studied fine arts and interior design at Ringling College of Art and Design in Sarasota Florida. These works are a blend of abstract and representational drawings, creations based in mystery, nature and human expression. The act of creation is something most fulfilling, it is something most frightening and something I have no choice but to pursue.

VIRGINIA SPEED: Is a collector of healing experience and has used her own testimony as the genesis of these personal pieces. "I collect, I collaborate, I generate and I celebrate...after death happened to me my renaissance in this world was a fueled uprising of beauty and harmony. When living I will act as if I am living"

RITA CAMERON: In late 2016, I participated in an open-forum expressive arts session sponsored by the local non-profit Strive, known as "In the Moment," where people expressed themselves through poetry, spoken word and music while encouraging others to join in or just observe. I was invited to participate because my work is so heavily influenced by and with music. Since then, I have continued in this vein, conveying movement through and within layers of color transparencies. Intentionality is in the forefront of my mind while working, but I also want to retain the raw natural evolution of design and color that happens when you are not overly controlling a situation. It is a challenging duality. The exploration of color and its myriad of relational densities and tones fascinate me, and I foresee this explorative venture will have many layers before its conclusion. ▪
